andrians, were placed in a box car by the military authorities and ridden be tween Alexandria and Strasburg daily as hostages, it being supposed that Southern people were on it. Thus, it will be seen, for weeks the lives of the Alexandrians were kept in jeopardy. Mr. L. M. Davis, of this city, was one of the bostages, and now that Mr. Burke is no more he is, it is believed, the only one living of the band of Alexandrians who were compelled to make this dangerous trip day after day. In 1868 the military authorities of this city, in a fit of capriciousness, issued an order that all residents of the city who should fail to take the oath of allegiance to the United Sates government after a given time would be deported outside the federal lines and into a territory then occupled by the Southern Confederacy. Notices were sent to all prominent citizens to appear at military headquarters and subscribe to the oath. Mr. Burke was among the number. But a corporal's guard obeyed the mandate, and Mr. Burke and many others who paid no attention to the order were notified that the steamer Sylvan Shore would leave the foot of Prince street on a certain morning and that all those defying the military authorities should go aboard. Those who had no idea of taklog the oath prepared to leave their The steamer was at the dock at the appointed hour, but before the lines were cast off the passengers were ordered to go ashore, as the order had been countermended. There is reason to believe that the influence wielded by Mr. Burke at that time had something to do with the revocation of that cruel order by the War Department and prevented consummating a cruel act.

He said he would make a recommendation to the Department of Justice that it take immediate steps to ascertain whether the anti-trust laws are being disobeyed by the manufacturers of paper. If the Passident succeeds in having the paper tardi abolished this will be the first time that the government has ever struck at a trust by depriving it of the benefit of the protective tariff, the thing that makes most of the great and greedy combines possible. A funny thing about the whole affair is that blatant republican "stand pat" editors who want high tariff on everything else now urge that the daty be taken off of paper. This is but another case of whose ox is gored.

THE City School Board at its last meeting changed the hours of the opening and closing of the public schools, the chief reason for which is to prevent the frequent disorderly clashes between the white and colored boys on their way to and from school. This will sound atrange to people living elsewhere. In other cities the schools all have the same Great Lakes, it has been suggested that hours, and if any disorder occurs, which the government take over the permanent other cities the schools all have the same is extremely seldom, the offending boys buildings on the Jamestown Exposition are promply arrested and punished. But this does not seem to be the case in Alexandria, where such disorders have grown to be so frequent that separate purchased. As estimate will then be hours for opening and closing the schools have had to be arranged. Here the boys' license seems to be unlimited and is not regarded as suitable for enlargethey do se they please without let or ment. hindrance and with no regard to the rights of other people. And all this could be remedied by the arrest and proper punishment of a single offender. But who will rell the cat?

A LARGE amount of governmental fauds now on deposit in the national banks of New York will be withdrawn from these institutions by Secretary Cortelyou and placed in the southern and western banks to help relieve the situation and assist in moving the crops. Large amounts are needed in the south and west, and the Secretary naturally takes the position that inasmuch as he placed large sums of government funds on deposit in New York when needed, he is in the position to make suggestions in the matter of transfer. This may be all right, but, sea matter of fact, what has the government to do with the shortage of money in the different sections of lern's escort from Flushing to Portsthe country, anyway?

The police go even further. They delare that the shooting of Ferree by Datach was the result of a deliberate plat by husband and wife to entice the man to the Detsch home, pretend to mistake him for a burglar and kill him, thus ending his persecutions for all time.

Mrs. Detech persists that she made full confession to her husband of her friendship with Ferree. Detach, who is the son of a wealthy man, and himself prominent in business, and a traveling salesman, denies this, and declares that when he shot Ferree he really believed him to be a burglar. He insists that he never doubted his wife, and when told that she had said she confessed to him he declared she must be hysterical and did not know what she was saying. Mrs. Detsch is in a pitable state, while her husband sits in his cell only opening his lips to give the lie to anyone who men-tions his wife's alleged confession. The shooting occurred Tuesday night.
